must learn to curb our impulses. Look, Towser, you know I wouldn't do anything in the world to hurt you, don't you? You know I'm your best friend and —

Towser boss, you got the script wrong. A dog is man's best friend, and any day you act like a man you know I'm right there backing you up like a buddy. If you got bad news, let's hear it.

Abner — Well, Elsie and I are expecting a little bundle of joy from heaven.

Towser Let's bring the conversation down to earth, boss. What's in the bundle—money?

Abner No. Now don't lose your temper, Towser. We are bringing another little one into our home.

Towser (forgetting himself and beginning to growl)—what, a puppy? I'll tell you right now—this house isn't big enough for two dogs.

Abner — No, not a puppy, a baby—a sweet, nice little baby.

Towser (barking wildly) — A baby, boss? That's even worse. What have I done to deserve this? How have I let you down?

Abner — It isn't that. Nothing could ever take your place in our hearts. But we became lonesome for the patter of little feet.

Towser — What's wrong with the patter of little paws? Sometimes I don't think I understand people. Is this a talking baby?

Abner — No, not at first.

Towser Well, that's a relief. I can't stand baby talk. But why you'd want a non-talking baby when you already got the only talking dog in the neighborhood is beyond me.

Abner — Everything will go on just as before. Only one thing. You can't sit on the sofa anymore. You get hairs on it.

Towser — What do you think the baby will get on its feathers?

Abner — Never mind, Towser. I'm glad to see you're taking this like the real dog I knew you were. We've always been able to count on you in a pinch. Do you have any questions?

Towser (after brooding) — Just one, boss.

Abner — Yes?

Towser — How can I get a transfer out of this mixed-up outfit?

Vacillating Affairs

Prospects Are Bright Over Suez Solution

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Prospects for an agreement between Britain and Egypt over the Suez Canal Zone appeared exceedingly bright today, according to the best informed opinion.

British and Egyptian negotiators met for two hours today at the residence of Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander-in-chief.

Both sides expressed the hope they expect me to do this but I refuse.

A. H. Answer: Surely you realize your self that it's always the man you aren't going with that holds the big attraction for you. When you're going with Bert it's Ray you bank after, and vice versa. No one in the world can overcome the indecision for you. You must settle down to a session of fact-finding, to discover where your heart really belongs. It's very unfair to Bert to keep beckoning him on, then throwing him aside, when you know he loves you. My conclusion is that neither boy has a permanent hold on your heart, but that some third young man will step into the picture with a charm that will leave absolutely no doubt in your mind.

Vacillating affections, such as yours, have very dangerous implications. If you married one of these two lads, you'd spend the rest of your life wondering whether you made the right choice and yearning for the rejected suitor. My advice would be to drop both boys for a while and circulate among a new group.

Dear Miss Dix: My children are widely separated in age, my daughters being 19 and 21, while my little boys are 2 and 4. In dealing with the younger children, I find the parents of today vastly different than they were years ago. Mothers think nothing of getting right into the children's quarrels, always, of course, taking the part of their own small fry. My boys mean nothing to him!

MRS. M. W.

Answer: Yours is a penalty that women pay for grabbing the catch of the season. You were mighty proud of yourself when this handsome Romeo capitulated to your charms. Be equally proud of him with the younger children, I find the parents of today vastly different than they were years ago. Mothers think nothing of getting right into the children's quarrels, always, of course, taking the part of their own small fry. My boys

mean nothing to him!

for the Middle East.

Reliable informants said this meeting might prove to be the crucial one and that an important announcement might be made soon.

Maj. Salah Salem, minister of national guidance and official Egyptian government spokesman, told a press conference last night:

"I am neither optimistic nor pessimistic regarding chances of a settlement. Along with my colleagues I place my faith in God."

The statement assumed added significance because Salem in the past has not held out any hope for agreement on the thorny Suez dispute.

Informed sources said Britain made considerable concessions to the Egyptian viewpoint which demanded complete withdrawal of British troops from the canal zone.

These concessions were said to concern the number of British technicians to be permitted to remain to take care of installations after the evacuation and conditions under which British combat troops could return in the event of war or a threat of war.

In London, the Daily Express headlined, "Britain to Quit Suez."

Only one-fifth of the cotton acreage in the southern United States is mechanically harvested.

Wonder Boys in Easy 66-6 Win

RUSSELLVILLE (AP) — Arkansas Tech overwhelmed Eastern Oklahoma A&M 66-6 before a first night crowd of 3,000 here last night.

Rabbit Bennett used his regular less than half of the game as the Wonder Boys kept the Oklahomans from making more than one first down in the first three quarters.

Travis Hartwick ran 30 yards around left side to set up a touchdown the second time Tech got the ball, to mark the pace for the Wonder Boys.

Defensive ball handling by Quarterback Bobby Hannan, who began passing almost every down in the third period, was credited with setting up at least two TDs.

The Mountaineers' Ray Jenner plunged from the six in the final quarter for the score, after East Oklahoma had moved the ball 70 yards on its only sustained drive.

Furillo Likely to Take Nat'l Batting Title

By BEN PHLEGAR Associated Press Sports Writer

The final three games may determine a surprise National League batting champion while the potential winner sits in the dugout nursing an aching hand.

The alured probably will go to Carl Furillo, the Brooklyn Dodgers' right fielder. Furillo hasn't played since he broke the little finger of his left hand in a free-for-all at the Polo Grounds Sept. 6. He ended his season with 105 hits in 345 times at bat, an average of .304.

But three other men still have a fighting chance.

The three, in the order of their chances, are Red Schoendienst, the switch-hitting second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals; Duke Snider, the center field teammate, and Stan (The Man) Musial of the Cardinals, the defending champion and six time batting king.

Here's what they would have to do to catch Furillo, figuring that each will get 12 more times at bat a good standard figure of four times up in each of the three last games:

Schoendienst needs seven hits. This would give him an average of .348. Six hits would leave him .0004 short of Furillo.

Snider needs nine hits. His average then would be .34576. Eight hits would leave him, too, short by .00040.

Musial, of course, faces the toughest job of all. He needs 10 hits in 12 times up to finish with .3440.

Schoendienst needs seven hits. This would give him an average of .348. Six hits would leave him .0004 short of Furillo.

Snider needs nine hits. His average then would be .34576. Eight hits would leave him, too, short by .00040.

Musial, of course, faces the toughest job of all. He needs 10 hits in 12 times up to finish with .3440.

Schoendienst and Musial will be playing their three games against the Cubs in Chicago. Snider will see action at Philadelphia.

Of the three men Snider has gained the most ground in the last month. He has gotten 44 hits in 32 times at bat since Aug. 25, raising his average from .313 to .337.

Musial was in a terrible slump during the spring and didn't start to make real progress until after the All-Star game. Like Snider, he's come with a rush in the past 30 days with 49 hits in 120 times at bat. During that spell he improved his average from .325 to .344.

Schoendienst, on the other hand, has been on top or among the leaders all season. A month ago he was hitting .340. Then he dropped off suddenly, slumping to as low as .329. He's jumped to .339 in just over a week.

All of the clubs were idle yesterday. Tonight there's a full program in the American League.

Boston is at New York, Philadelphia at Washington, Detroit at Cleveland and Chicago at St. Louis.

In the National League the Cardinals and Cubs play a day game in Chicago, Brooklyn is at Philadelphia tonight and New York is at Pittsburgh. Milwaukee and Cincinnati get another day off.

Dallas Takes Second Win of Series

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Eagles and Nashville Vols moved to Nashville today to resume the Dixie Series with Dallas holding a 2-0 lead.

The Eagles beat the Vols 5-4 in 10 innings last night to make it clean sweep for the home stand. They had won the first game 7-1 Wednesday night.

Al Stringer, Dallas shortstop who has been a batting star of the series thus far, singled with the bases loaded to drive in the winning run.

The clubs play the third game of the series at Nashville tomorrow night with Jack Harshman starting for the Vols. Dallas will use John (Red) Murff.

Hard enough hit by graduation alone, Wyatt's squad was trimmed further by scholastic failures, the military draft and unexplained withdrawals from school.

Wyatt, who transformed a perennial doormat into a big winner at Wyoming before being tapped for the job of lifting Arkansas' football fortunes, says he has something less than two full platoons of dependable gridiron. But he's calling them the "toughened predecessors, Otis Douglas."

For the Vols, Eddie Hardin

Marciano in TKO, Retains Heavy Title

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Roland LaStarza had the heart but Rocky Marciano had the guns, and so help to him, explaining:

"Heiden has got those Razors, Mack, still holds the back down to playing weight and heavyweight championship of the world today."

Few fighters in the annals of the concert today over the fact that entertainment sport has taken a more heavier load than the ex-caller, Arkansas

team than we've ever seen from the Bronx absorbed last night before Referee Ruby Gold simple wing teams we've ever seen stepped in midway of the mat," adding:

"We've spent the week trying to and erred enough. Outclassed and learn to defend the single wing defenses for the final round. Arkansas' stand-off four rounds. LaStarza had done all blocking. We'll have to get low and that could have been asked of me in"

Oklahoma A&M is a one-touch-

today, just a year and two days favorite to go on up to Arkansas

Walewski at Philadelphia Jersey Joe known in the series, which now

Marciano stands a colossus in the air. The Cowboys have a balanced T star set, probably for good as a serious contender, the Rock harrisy Gibson—a pair of selected, no rival of real stature. He must be accepted as one of the great champions.

He proved last night before an aerial battle,

astruck crowd of 44,502 that

Rocky rushed his bleeding rival against the ropes and with a lethal succession of left-right-left swings to the jaw slammed LaStarza to the canvas for the first knockdown of the fight. LaStarza rose on his count of nine, but as Goldstein wiped his gloves clean and sent him forth again it was evident that the challenger had made his bid and failed.

Again the Rock harried in,

throwing both fists with all he had,

apparently as fresh and relentless

as he had been in the opening round. When it was evident that LaStarza could not defend against the furious attack, Goldstein leaped to save him. The benton man stared dully, blood frothing on his lips, and made no dissent.

12 Baskets Full Left

Only those live who do good. Sharing kindly and generously is the only way most men can ever become great. Let us remember our opportunities do not come dressed up on Sundays; they just happen along, every day, in overalls. True helpfulness is spontaneous: it finds its occasions in life's daily round... then, give your less fortunate neighbor a ride to church. Sharing our loaves and fishes multiplies what we have left. After feeding the 5,000 Jesus had twelve baskets full... the miracle of a few sardines and sandwiches.

Did St. Paul Sanction Slavery?
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The days are long since past when anyone tried to justify the institution of slavery by reference or proof from the Bible.

Now, long after the War Between the States, cleavages between religious bodies, South and North, have been, or are being healed.
Yet there was a time when religion and the Bible had a very active part in the controversies regarding slavery. The spirit of the Bible, with its strong emphasis upon freedom, was invoked by anti-slavery advocates, while proofs and references were cited by the impassioned defenders of slavery.

And strongest on the part of slavery's defenders was the claim that Paul had impliedly sanctioned the institution, or, at least, had not condemned it, though he had urged considerate and human treatment of slaves.

The issue is more theoretical than practical. But it may still be asked whether Paul sanctioned slavery; or why, if he did not sanction it, he did not come out specifically in its condemnation?

The issue, of course, is emphasized
in the one-chapter New Testament book of Philemon. It was a definite, practical issue that could not be avoided.

Onesimus, a slave whose master was Philemon, a Christian in the church at Colossae, a city in the Roman province of Asia, had run away from his master, defrauding him, and had made his way to Rome.

Here, in the great city, a haven for runaways and criminals, he had apparently made good his escape, but he came under the influence of St. Paul and became a Christian.

There was the problem. What should Paul do about it? And what should Onesimus do? One recalls that the intense anti-slavery advocates did in the days of the so-called "underground railway," when they harbored and protected runaway slaves. Technically they were law-breakers.

Should Paul have similarly protected Onesimus? Was he sanctioning slavery in sending Onesimus to Philemon in Colossae?

Here, however, was a situation in which both master and slave were Christians. Onesimus, apparently, was quite willing to go back.
It was a matter for Christians to settle among themselves.

We must realize how futile it would have been for Paul to have carried on a one-man war against slavery in world situation. He had deeper and more underlying purposes.

Yet, in his very attitude, as one writer has pointed out, he laid the ground for the abolition of slavery
insofar as Christianity is concerned.

When men become brothers in a truly Christian way one can no longer treat another as a slave.

Escaped Pole Tells Why He Came to U. S.

WASHINGTON — Dr. Marek Stanislaw Korowicz today told a congressional committee—and via radio the people behind the Iron Curtain—why he quit Poland's United Nations delegation and asked asylum in the United States. "I knew it was only in the United States that I could serve to the fullest extent the interest of Poland," he said.

The 50-year-old law professor spoke in French from the witness chair of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

His immediate audience was limited to a translator, committee members, newsmen, radio-TV technicians, and representatives of the National Committee for a Free Europe, Inc., a private organization. As a security measure to protect Korowicz, the general public was barred.

But radio picked up the Pole's words and flung them across the ocean to Europe and to such listeners behind the Iron Curtain as dared to tune in.
